INTERORGANIZATIONAL
COUNCIL ON REGULATION

Subject: Share Your Feedback on the ICOR Practice Overlap Guidance

Dear Licensee,

The Interorganizational Council on Regulation (ICOR) is a collaborative partnership of the regulatory organizations representing architecture, engineering, interior design, landscape architecture, and surveying. Its members are CIDQ, CLARB, NCARB, and NCEES.

Earlier this year, ICOR released the Practice Overlap Guidance, a resource designed to provide greater clarity around where professional competencies and responsibilities overlap across the five design professions and where distinct areas of practice exist.
Developed using nationally and internationally recognized standards, the guidance is intended to support informed decision-making, effective interdisciplinary collaboration, and a better understanding of professional roles and responsibilities.

ICOR Wants Your Feedback

ICOR is seeking input from licensed professionals to better understand how the guidance is being used and where additional clarification or enhancements may be beneficial.

We encourage you to review the guidance and share your perspective. Whether you find the resource helpful, identify opportunities for improvement, or believe additional topics should be addressed, your feedback will help shape future updates.

- EXPLORE THE PRACTICE OVERLAP INITIATIVE
- VIEW THE PRACTICE OVERLAP GUIDANCE
- SHARE YOUR FEEDBACK

Thank you for taking the time to share your perspective. Your insights will help ICOR continue to strengthen this resource and support greater clarity across the regulated design professions.

Best regards,

ICOR
Council for Interior Design Qualification (CIDQ)
Matt Barusch, mbarusch@cidq.org

Council of Landscape Architectural Registration Boards (CLARB)
Veronica Meadows, vmeadows@clarb.org

National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB)
Josh Batkin, jbatkin@ncarb.org

National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying (NCEES)
Josh Twitty, jtwitty@ncees.org